Summary of reasons for decision:

This computer moving image file is deemed to be objectionable under s3(2)(b) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 (FVPC Act) because it tends to promote and support the use of violence and coercion to compel women to participate in or submit to sexual conduct. The file consists of a commercially produced explicit sex scene which involves a scenario in which a woman is treated in a violent and degrading way by a man and plays out as a scene of sexual violence. It is intended to arouse and sexually gratify the viewer, and it normalises and encourages the violent and degrading conduct it depicts. This material is likely to contribute to the formation and perpetuation of attitudes that lead to sexual violence against women. The classification of objectionable interferes with the right to freedom of expression as set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act, but this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications falling under s3(2) of the FVPC Act are deemed to be objectionable.
